The project

As human beings, we need to take more environmentalist measures within the framework of the green deal in our daily activities in order to make life on earth healthier and more sustainable. We prepared our project based on the fact that young people are the most important interlocutors in order to take decisions and measures regarding the future. In this direction, with our project, we will organize a week youth exchange program where young people can learn the importance of environmental awareness and how they can lead a more environmentally friendly life by experiencing them together.
